The wrecked train was the second section of Hudson River train No. 13, composed entirely of sleeping coaches, and drawn by locomotive No. 843.

Further particulars obtained soon after the news reached here were to the effect that soon after the first section had passed the point several ties and rails had been dumped upon the track, together with fish-plates, fastening the mass together and completely obstructing the track.

The engineer failed to see the obstruction till it was too late to stop the train, and the engine crashed into the pile and leaned partly over it, while three of the heavy coaches broke loose and toppled down the bank and the others left the track.

REPORTS.

The Market Opened Firm, but Declined in the Afternoon.

Illinois Central Weakens on Rumors of Directory Troubles.

Secretary Windom Will Make a Heavy Silver Purchase.

HERE was a firmer feeling in stocks to-day for a time, but before delivering hours the whole list was weak once more, and the early fisctional gain was lost. The market as it stands is neither chalk nor cheese. The fact of the matter is that the street is practically leaderless, and with exception of the little gain made by the bears in the Granger's, the vibrations in the market are due to the operations of a handin the room. Prices early in the day moved up 14 to 1 per cent., but later there was a decline of to to W.

The Sawyer-Wallace failure had little or no effect on stocks for the reason that the concern had evened up most of its contracts at the various Exchanges, and had, so far as known, no deals on the Stock Exchange. It is suspected that the firm dropped conderable money in coffee during the pas few years, having been very unsuccessful in its efforts to sit on the new element which forged to the front at the Coffee Exchange about a year or so ago. Illinois Central was a weak spot to-day, being offered at 1073%. There is talk of serious trouble in the directory, and a move-ment is on foot looking to the retirement of the party now in control.
